SUPERFISKY: the Allure of the Urban Wild

"SUPERFISKY" subject Kat Superfisky in collaboration with The Landscape Architecture Podcast and Cal Poly Pomona's Department of Landscape Architecture has completed filming the first full feature episode in a docuseries focusing on the altruistic work of landscape architects and landscape designers. Episode one set to be released in 2021 tells the story of Superfisky's aim to transform the urban landscape by growing and supplying locally-propagated climate-appropriate plants to public green infrastructure projects (such as the Los Angeles River revitalization).
